

Forecast For Highland & Eilean Siar
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Tuesday 29 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Mainly dry with clear or sunny spells, but north cloudier.

Today:

South mainly dry, warm and sunny. However rather cloudy across the Caithness, Sutherland and the Hebrides, with low cloud and patchy light rain or drizzle feeding in on light northerly breezes. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Tonight:

Some evening brightness for Wester Ross but otherwise staying cloudy with some patchy drizzle and mist especially in the north with the light winds. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Wednesday:

Starting quite cloudy in the north but brighter in the west and south, cloud mostly clearing to leave a bright and mainly dry day with some sunshine breaking through. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:

The end of the week looks to be fair with sunny intervals and light winds. A threat of low cloud for east on Friday and Saturday, showers possible on Saturday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.